

CHRISTOPHER BLATTMAN

*Employing and Empowering Marginalized Women:
A Cluster Randomized Trial of Microenterprise Assistance*

Trade and Development Seminar Series

March 18th, 12:30-2:00

Economic Department Seminar Room
Monroe Hall of Government, Room
321, 2115 G Street NW

Upcoming Trade and Development Seminars include:

March 25th, Shawn Cole, HBS

April 2nd, Prashant Bharadwaj, UCSD

Co-sponsored by the GW Department of Economics.

Christopher Blattman is an Assistant Professor in Columbia University's Political Science department and the School of International and Public Affairs. In addition to teaching, Blattman serves as an advisor to the International Rescue Committee and the World Bank, as well as holding advising positions in the past with the UN Peacebuilding Fund, Uganda's Office of the Prime Minister, and Liberia's Ministry of Internal Affairs.

Institute for International
Economic Policy

THE GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY